Executive Protection

GSI's protective service teams tailor activities to improve client's working environments while maintaining the highest safety and security levels available.

Our highly trained, experienced professionals perform meticulous advance work and effective planning to give executives back hours of valuable time on each business trip.

We understand the need to feel secure while pursuing everyday activities and that discretion is key to our clients' comfort. We also understand that our clients require the freedom to move quickly and securely in multiple business environments. From regionally high risk areas, domestic workplace labor issues to emerging markets, our services allow clients to pursue their goals while maintaining acceptable levels of protection without hindering progress.

A man in a black suit and hat is seen from behind, holding a large umbrella. The umbrella's canopy is a globe of the Earth, showing continents and oceans. The man is standing on a light blue surface, and his shadow is cast on the ground. The background is white.

Workplace Violence

More than two million people are victims of workplace violence each year. Preventing tense situations from escalating requires the ability to recognize warning signs and the skills to plan and respond accordingly.

GSI provides your managers with the training and skill set to reduce confrontation, improve workplace relations and decrease your organization's exposure to liability. We ensure your training program reflects and enhances corporate policies and delivers the most effective instruction possible to maintain your employees' safety.

Interactive Learning | Real-World Scenarios | Immersion Training

Customized Training and Education

Our diverse experience enables us to deliver realistic training and education solutions. Our tabletop exercises, practical scenarios and simulations of real-world events prepare your personnel to meet the challenges of today's unpredictable environments.

GSI develops cost-effective, efficient training and education programs. We realize you are unique and tailor our curriculum accordingly to support your strategies and particular requirements.

Counter Espionage

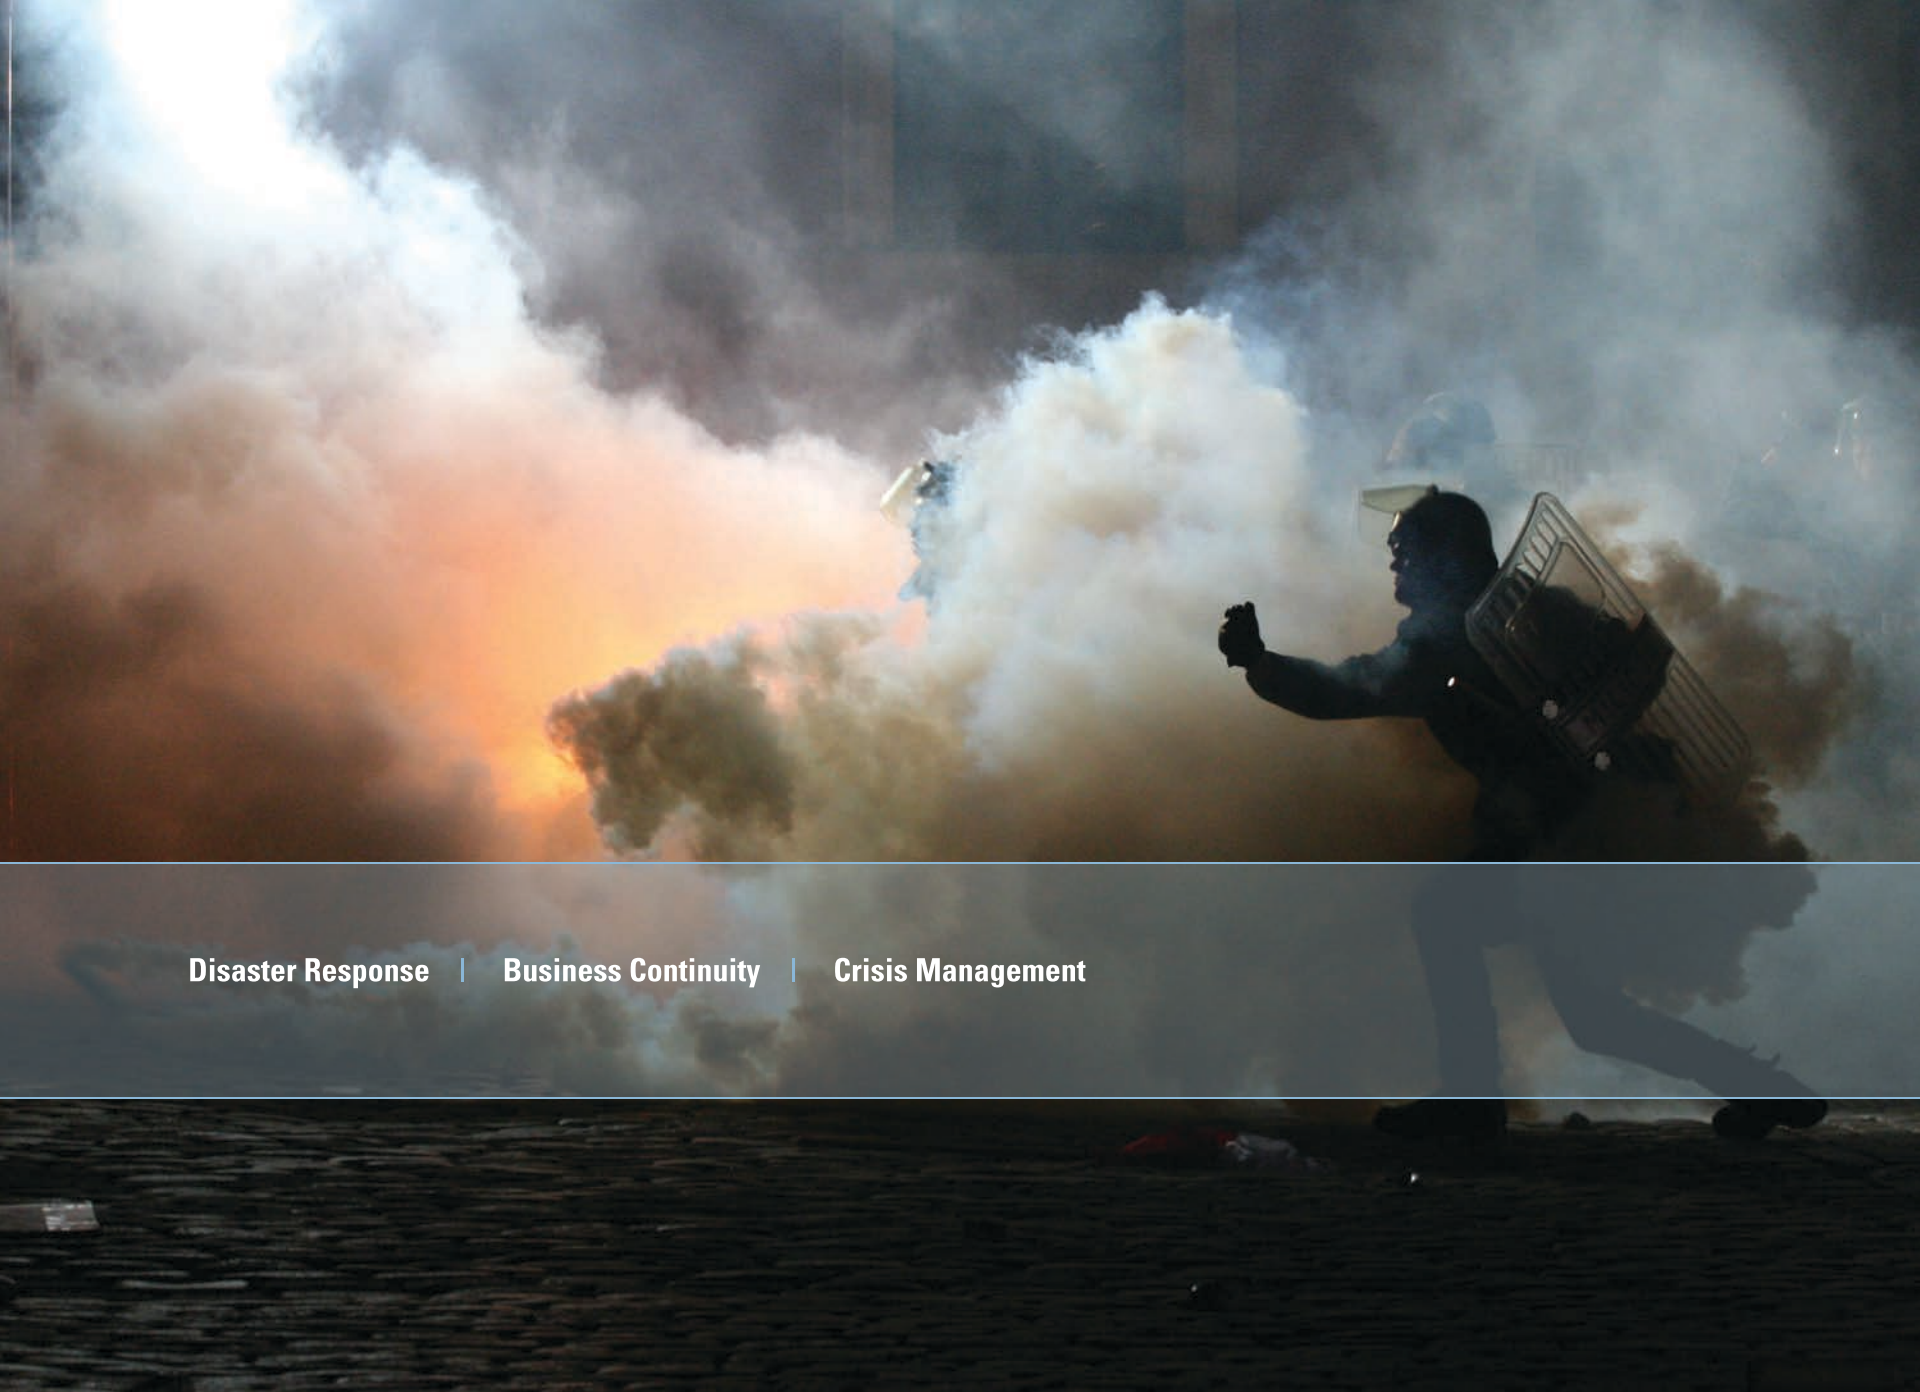

Electronic Countermeasures | Bug Sweeps | Surveillance

Technical Surveillance Countermeasures

Increasingly, companies are preparing for threats of competitive intelligence and trade secret theft. GSI provides an evaluation of corporate headquarters, meeting facilities and other sensitive locations with our counter-intelligence and counter-surveillance services.

By engaging in proactive and preventative measures, businesses can ensure the protection of their propriety information. TSCM is a large step in the direction of increased corporate security.

Disaster Response | Business Continuity | Crisis Management

Enterprise Risk Management

Enterprise Risk Management should be a part of any organization's strategic planning process, yet many companies are not prepared with a fluid and dynamic program. How you handle the safety of your employees, the disruption of your business and remain resilient is imperative to your organization's survival.

Our experience in comprehensive security management allows GSI to identify threats to the well-being of your business and develop a viable, cohesive and forward-thinking plan on which to build a resilient organization.

Kidnap and Ransom | High Risk Protection | Evacuation and Repatriation

A photograph of a man in a state of distress, blindfolded with a piece of white cloth. He is sitting on the ground, leaning against a red brick wall. His hands are bound together with metal chains. His face and arms are smeared with dirt, suggesting he has been through a rough ordeal. The background is dark and out of focus, possibly showing some foliage.

Kidnap and Ransom

Kidnapping by terrorists or criminals has reached alarming proportions in some countries. Geo-political instability is more common than ever and may force employers to evacuate key employees or their entire workforce.

GSI offers coherent and workable strategies to establish priorities and make critical decisions when you need help most. We are dedicated to the return of hostages, the well-being of evacuees and the safety of your workforce.
